

Thank you very much indeed for participating in our seminar last Thursday, and a special thank you to our speakers – Jing and Charlotte, and to our host at Schroders. With close to 40 people attending, it is our best turnout so far yet.

We continue to strive to bring together quantitatively-minded women from across finance, data science, and academia to share and exchange exciting ideas that are most relevant for the industry today. Keep your diary open as we are planning to host another summer seminar in August!

Please get in touch if you would like to present in August or have any recommendations for the topic.

Stay tuned and all the best,
The Quantess London Team

Copyright © 2017 Quantess London, All rights reserved.

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.

